Post President's Message

Spring is here and the Washington DC Post's Annual Scholarship Golf Tournament on April 16th, at The Courses at Andrews AFB, South Course, is just the ticket to celebrate with a fun round of golf while raising money for the Washington DC Post Scholarship Fund. The opportunity to win the Hole-In-One prize, a new BMW sports car, makes it that much better, especially after tax day! There are plenty of other prizes, including free airline tickets, golf clubs, and many other gifts. This year's Golf Tournament is shaping up to be a terrific event, with many of our members already registered and signed up as sponsors! But there are plenty of sponsorship opportunities left and your participation is what will make this event a success. So take a look at our golf flyer in this issue, and register today! We will also host our 2nd Annual Golf Clinic for Young Members and anyone wishing to hone their golf skills. This is a great opportunity to learn more about golf, spend a great afternoon with colleagues and members at the golf course, and join everyone for dinner.

The Washington DC Post Scholarship Dinner at the Army Navy Club on March 18th gave us the opportunity to celebrate your terrific support in promoting the architectural and engineering career fields at colleges and universities. It is a truly noble and worthwhile cause, as our members form the foundation for each of our public and private organization's success. Professional development has been an industry-wide concern and our scholarships are one great way you and your fellow Washington DC Post members are making a difference. Our guest speaker, Mr. Jim Crum, Director of the Iraqi Reconstruction Program Management Office at the Pentagon, provided an inspiring update on the $18 Billion Iraq Reconstruction effort.

I look forward to seeing you all on Friday, April 16th at the Golf Tournament!

James Peck, PE, CCM, DC Post President

Participate in a Readiness Exercise

The Washington DC Post Readiness Committee wants to invite SAME members and non-members to participate in a local evacuation exercise. The Readiness Exercise will take place on Saturday, 10 April.

The Baltimore Orioles are developing an emergency evacuation plan for Oriole Park at Camden Yards. In order for this plan to be effective, they are seeking approximately 2,000 volunteers to assist them with their exercise. Each person who commits and participates will receive one voucher for a free ticket for any one game Monday through Thursday. Complimentary parking will be available in Lot B/C. Refreshments will be provided. You will need to arrive at the location by 8:30 AM.

This is a great opportunity to support the Washington DC Post Readiness and National Security initiative and to learn more about an emergency evacuation exercise. Free tickets to a ball game are also a great way to end the day. Thank you for your support and participation.

The Washington DC Post Readiness Committee held its first quarterly meeting on 26 March at the PBS&J Beltsville office location. The next meeting is scheduled to take place on 18 June at the Washington Navy Yard.

If you would like to participate in the evacuation exercise or attend the next Readiness Committee meeting, please contact Jill Harrison at 301-210-6800 or via email at jmharrison@pbsj.com.

Jacobs Engineering, founded in 1947, is consistently ranked among the industry's top five design and construction management (CM) firms. In July 2003, Jacobs was ranked by Building, Design & Construction magazine as Number One "Construction Manager" and Number Two "Engineer/Architect". The company enjoys annual revenues approaching $5 billion and employs over 35,000 design, construction, and support personnel worldwide. Services provided by Jacobs include:

- Planning & Consulting
- Architectural Design
- Engineering Design
- Program & Project Management
- Construction Management
- Operations Maintenance
- Hazardous Waste Management
- Design/Build

Jacobs has long served Federal agencies on nationally significant programs and projects. Since 1992, Jacobs has delivered multiple projects for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) totaling over $500 million in construction value. Under a current eight-year contract, Jacobs continues to provide design and design/build services enhancing FAA's ability to manage and control domestic air traffic safety and security. Jacobs is completing the design of a new 320 ft. airport traffic control tower (ATCT) with 16 operation stations; a 86,000 SF base building with offices, a conference center; and a 36-scope consolidated terminal radar approach control (TRACON) facility at Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport.

Jacobs is currently providing A/E design services for the Joint Headquarters Armed Forces Reserve Center in Los Alamitos, California. Shared jointly by the California National Guard and the US Army Reserve, this 269,000 GSF facility will house the largest number of general officers west of the Mississippi River. The entire base was master planned by Jacobs, and this is the first building designed for that masterplan. The modern facility reflects the original character of the air base and will set the precedent for all future buildings on the base.

Jacobs also brings experience in military housing. They currently provide design/build services for the repair/revitalization of 200 Housing Units for the Admiral Hartman Military Family Housing Wholehouse Revitalization, Phases II and III and Community Centers Naval Installation in San Diego under a contract with Naval Facilities Engineering Command, Southwest Division. Recently, Jacobs, in joint venture with the leading US homebuilder, Lennar, was one of nine companies selected by the Air Force Center for Environmental Excellence (AFCEE) to receive an ID/IQ contract to build military family housing and other military facilities. Jacobs will provide military family housing on a design/build basis during an ordering period of five years, with an additional three years to complete the work.

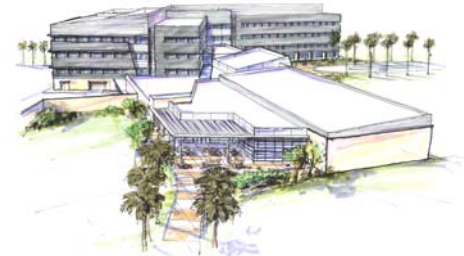

Jacobs brings a long history of service to the General Services Administration (GSA). Jacobs currently provides construction management services for the design, procurement and construction of the Department of State Modernization. The interior modernization program is being conducted in three stages each with multiple phases. This comprehensive renovation involves architectural restoration, asbestos abatement, structural enhancements, HVAC, plumbing and electrical upgrades and significant information technology, telecom and security enhancements, the installation of fire/life safety equipment, and elevator repairs.

The company's additional Federal clients include:

- Administrative Offices of the U.S. Courts
- Architect of the Capitol
- Department of Agriculture
- Department of Energy
- Department of Transportation
- Environmental Protection Agency
- Federal Bureau of Prisons
- Federal Transit Administration
- Internal Revenue Service
- National Aeronautics & Space Administration
- National Institutes of Health
- U.S. Air Force
- U.S. Army Corps of Engineers
- U.S. Marine Corps
- U.S. Postal Service

Washington DC Post Scholarship recipient with Al O'Konski, Washington DC Post Scholarship Committee Chair.

These young professionals are the future of engineering, architecture, and the environmental science. It is through generous contributions like yours and through the Washington DC Post Scholarship Fund that these students have the opportunity to be recognized for doing a good job and ultimately pursue their dreams. We wish each and every one of our Scholarship Recipients the best of luck as they pursue their careers.

This annual event would not be possible without your active participation. The Washington DC Post extends a warm thank you to all of our Individual and Company Scholarship sponsors and donors. Thank you!

Paul Brott Family Members at the 2004 Washington DC Post Scholarship Dinner

In the last ten years, the Washington DC Post has awarded close to 70 Scholarships, with $78,000 awarded under this program. It is with generous contributions from our members and our Sustaining Member firms that we are able to continue this excellent Scholarship program.

The Washington DC Post Scholarship and a number of named Scholarships make up the Washington DC Post Scholarship Fund. This year's Washington DC Post Scholarship Committee, Marilyn Braken, Al O'Konski, Rose Dela Vega, Ron Hubbard, Spencer Brott, and Murphy Tuomey, once again contributed to the selection of the Scholarship Recipients.

These, and many other individuals, over the years, have contributed their time and energy to see to it that the Washington DC Post stays true to "actively pursue the educational aspects of the engineering profession, with emphasis on mentoring, student scholarships, high school and college outreach programs, and continued professional development of its membership".

Dr. Robert Wolff, Executive Director, SAME speaks about the Linda McCarthy Scholarship.

In addition to a great Scholarship event, the Washington DC Post also invited a guest speaker to give a presentation on the current situation taking shape in Iraq.

Mrs. Brott and Rose Dela Vega at the 2004 Washington DC Post Scholarship Dinner

Mr. James Crum is the Director of the Iraqi Reconstruction Program at the Pentagon. Mr. Crum gave an excellent presentation on the Iraq Reconstruction Program and provided a Program Management Overview and Progress Update. Mr. Crum leads the team that directly supports the Program Management efforts in Baghdad under Rear Admiral (ret) Dave Nash for the $18 billion infrastructure reconstruction effort.

Mr. Crum has worked over 20 years for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and is currently assigned to the Headquarters in Washington, DC. He is a graduate of Stanford University and is a Professional Engineer in the state of Arizona. We are most grateful to Mr. Crum for taking the time to come and speak at our dinner. Washington DC Post members and guests enjoyed the presentation, that was followed by a Q&A session.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The Washington DC Post supports The Society of American Military Engineers (SAME) goal to promote the engineering career field at colleges and universities through Scholarships. The Washington DC Post, with over 1,400 members, including over 140 Sustaining Member firms, offers Scholarships annually to architectural and engineering college students, with an emphasis on those in the Washington DC Post area. The Washington DC Post is awarding eight scholarships for the 2003-2004 year, of $1,000 each.

The Washington DC Post Scholarship Golf Tournament makes it possible for us to continue to support our young engineers and architects. Your continued support is paramount to a robust Scholarship Program!
